

ABSTRACT

A fluid supply media includes a material having pores and a lamellae inhibiting agent retained relative to the material proximate to the pores.